

Audubon Society of Kalamazoo

Dedicated to:

Bird and Wildlife Conservation — Nature Education — Outdoor Recreation

The Audubon Society of Kalamazoo (ASK) has been part of the Kalamazoo community since 1945, when Kalamazoo area bird watchers decided to organize. Today, we are an active and inclusive club led by volunteers, with members from all birding skill levels and age groups.

You are invited to join ASK. By becoming a member, you will join over 300 birders in Southwest Michigan who share an interest in bird watching, nature, and the environment. Your membership not only entitles you to participate in the activities listed below but also makes those activities possible. All member benefits can be found on our website.

Please understand that while we are a local chapter of Michigan Audubon, membership in Michigan or National Audubon does not make you a member of ASK. All three organizations share a common mission of bird conservation, but we are an independent entity.

What we do:

- Offer informative monthly bird or nature programs on the 4th Monday of September-April, except in December.
- Lead over 20 birding field trips to local and regional natural areas (September-May) and offer beginning birding walks monthly, on the first Saturday
- Publish an interesting and informative monthly e-newsletter (September-June).
- Organize a Christmas Bird Count.
- Host a potluck and bird walk at a specially chosen site for the Annual Meeting in May.
- Give over 45 free classroom bird presentations annually and serve over 1,000 area students.
- Give a variety of community presentations on bird-related topics.
- Maintain a lending library of bird-related books.
- Maintain a local Rare Bird Alert e-mail network.
- Support the Kalamazoo Peregrine Falcon webcam and activities.
- Actively work on environmental issues, particularly on the local level.
- Ensure our organization is as diverse as the birds our organization enjoys through our Community Outreach Committee.
- Provide deserving local, national, and international organizations with grants to help protect birds and their habitats.
